The Class of '51

Foreword

We, the "Cloisterette Staff of Fifty-One," have chosen as our theme—"Mountaineer Boy."

Keeping in mind the fact that we are nicknamed "Mounts" or "Mountaineers," we shall try to depict a typical day at school with a comic strip mountaineer boy. As he visits the classes, clubs, and sports events, we ask you to join him.

"Cloisterette" Staff

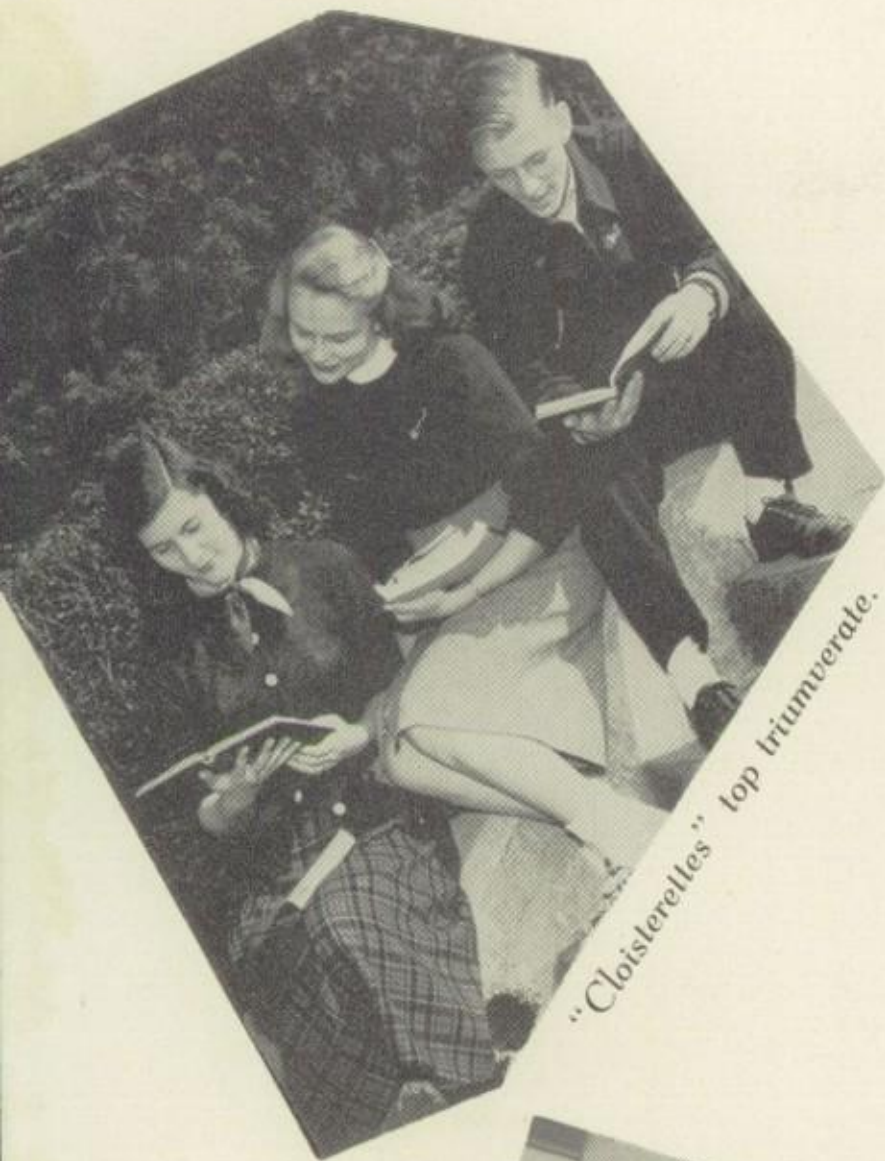

With the organizing of the "Cloisterette" staff in early October and right up until the last copy reached the subscribers' hands, work was the unceasing thought of all members.

The feature writers busily secured information for the personal senior write-ups as well as news of all clubs, sports and classes in E. H. S. When this material was handed to the editors it had to be checked — recopied — rechecked — given the advisor's O. K. — typed — checked, and finally ready to be sent to the publisher.

Our photographer, Sarah, could be seen with her camera at all football and basketball games, taking action shots of the teams and spectators. These pictures plus those donated by the seniors had to be cut and set up to produce our snapshot pages. All this time our artists were designing and sketching the sectional dividers under the direction of Miss Marion Leister.

Not to be forgotten, the business staff, under the supervision of Donald Usner, solicited the business area and secured publication funds through the patron list. In mid-January the subscription campaign got underway, with all members using super-salesmanship.

Lending a helping hand wherever needed were our three editors, Fred, Evelyn, and Pat. Working many evenings till dark, they, with the guidance of Miss Betty Bartels and the support of the entire staff, tried to bring to you a better "Cloisterette".

"Cloisterettes" top triumverate.

Student Council

This organization met once every week during half hour activity period under the supervision of Mr. Allan Hammon. Being helpful in directing and planning the school activities, they conducted numerous drives, such as the Tuberculosis campaign, March of Dimes, and Red Cross drive, to collect money for needy and benevolent causes. This year they also had a suggestion box to which the students could take their ideas or suggestions. These ideas were then discussed at the weekly meetings. As a whole this organization did a fine job of student government.

The officers were: Donald Usner, president; Donald Harsh, vice president; Evelyn Ay, recording secretary; Jane Kochel, corresponding secretary; Nevin Crowther, treasurer; Jacob Weaver, sergeant-at-arms. The council elected Donald Usner and Shirley Eitnier to attend the state convention at Reading. The senior members were: Evelyn Ay, Jane Kochel, Shirley Eitnier, Donald Usner, George Rayner, Jacob Weaver, and Donald Harsh.

Class History

In September 1947, we, the class of "51" returned to school with a new status in life. We were freshmen. We took part in every extra-curricular activity open to us. Our Junior Varsity football team did quite well supported by such players as Lester Brubaker, "Peanut" Orwig, Harry Renninger, Eugene Rutt, and Donnie Weaver. We elected to our Student Council, Nancy Strickler and Jim Orwig.

As sophomores we entered Senior High School, eager and willing. We elected our class officers who were: President, Donald Harsh; Vice President, James Orwig; Secretary, Arlene Hockman; Treasurer, Jay Weaver. Our Student Council representatives were Karen Shimp and Fred Kreider. Our class members now took a very active part in all the extra-curricular activities.

We chose Donald Usner, President; Lester Brubaker, Vice President; Erma Wiest, Secretary; Jay Weaver, Treasurer, as upon our junior year. Many of our classmates participated in the extra-curricular activities offered. Dave Brossman, Les Brubaker, Harry Keares, Ed Pierce, Harry Renninger, Eugene Rutt, Paul Shupp, Donald Weaver, and Jake Weaver helped to lead our football team to many glorious victories. We elected Evelyn Ay, Shirley Eitnier, Donald Weaver, and George Rayner to the Student Council.

The night of May 5 we were hosts to the senior prom. Our theme was "The Orient" with Bob Lyter furnishing the music.

In September 1950 we came back to our dear old alma mater to start the beginning of the end. Our officers for our senior year were Donald Usner, President; Jay Weaver, Vice President; Fred Kreider, Treasurer; Arlene Hockman, Secretary. Our football co-captains were Let Brubaker and Donnie Weaver. We had a very successful season, emerging triumphant from the annual Ephrata-Lititz fray. Representing us in Student Council were Evelyn Ay, Shirley Eitnier, Jane Kochel, Donald Usner, George Rayner, Jake Weaver, and Donald Harsh.

On May 4, as the guests of the class of "52", we spent an enjoyable evening at the prom, dancing to the music of Ira Bowman.

The graduation season came and passed, making all of us quite happy as we embarked upon the roads of the future.

2. A replacement for Cyrus Dietrich in Room 18, during the eighth period.
3. A plush footstool for Mr. Hartzler.
4. For Laurie Weaver's successor, a new joke book.

Prophecy

I, the spirit of the "Mountaineer Boy", on this beautiful day in 1981, reign over the assemblage of my faithful followers of the class of '51.

This gala affair is being held on the spacious grounds of the Ephrata National Park, landscaped by Mr. Kenneth Witmyer, and situated in my woodland kingdom. The exuberant voices of the long-separated classmates echo through the celestial viridity of the surroundings. The rostrum of honor is adorned with memory reviving bannerets of forest green and white. Forming a contrasting backdrop, countless tiers of white rose buds contribute their breath-taking beauty.

An ovation greets the welcoming speaker, H. J. Orwig, prominent Ephrata business tycoon. Also representing the business world are such famous leaders as Madeleine Beck, eminent journalist, accompanied by Sarah Myer, photographer, and her on-the-spot reporter, Neva Lewis; Jay Weaver, Professor of Mathematics at the University of Ephrata; Dr. George Rayner, scientist and inventor of the perpetual motion machine; and Miss Doris Hiester, D. D. T. (Department of Dietetical Technology). Rounds of applause accompany the Honorable Governor Ronald Hartranft as he steps upon the platform followed by his "first lady", the former Phyllis Rupp, his efficient secretary, Marlene Dissinger, and Mr. Charles Zinn, professional baby kisser.

Following the oration a garden luncheon was served — food being supplied by Dale Carpenter, from Dale's Delicatessen. As the hostess, Miss K. R. Shimp, who graciously consented to leave the "Little Waldorf" to officiate at this luncheon, walked among the scattered tables, she stopped and chatted with Mademoiselle Canty, proprietress of Canty's Corsetiere Salon, and Lucille Hagy, an airline hostess, modeling the latest style uniform as designed by the former Erma Wiest, who with her husband Ernest Hartranft, coach of Hartranft's Hot-Shots, share the table. Also present is Mr. Eugene Rutt, president of the T. W. A. airlines. At an adjoining table Marguerite Booth, executive in the fashion world, and her illustrator, Esther Becker, reminisce with Miss Dorothy Graybill, star of the Ice Capades appearing in the newly-built arena, designed by Robert Burkholder and constructed under the supervision of Edwin Mohler, Jr. and Calvin Noll, Inc. Leaving the luncheon grounds to attend the entertainment planned by Miss Arlene Hockman, Joan Coover, Professor of History, and Laney Lou Gehman, the new Fifth Avenue hill-billy, meet their old friends, Dorothy Eichelberger and Marian Hauck, off-duty R. N.'s.

Vibrant yeh's and boo's attract the attention of the athletically-inclined as Brossman's Bruts are being slaughtered by Pat's Brattin' Brats, managed by Dave and Hartranft respectively. Pitchers are Maggie Leinbach and Herbie Imhoff.

Out-of-season spectators include Let Brubaker, football coach at the University, and the Alpine ski expert, James Bomberger.

Fortunately, for the music lovers, the cheering section has not drowned out the tenor voice of Cyrus Dietrich, hailed by the critics as a second Caruso, and accompanied by the nimble-fingered Joyce Kilhefner. Miss Nancy Snader, spotted in the audience, is urged by popular demand to render several vocal selections.

My spirit rejoices to see the contentment and happiness upon the faces of these long-parted classmates as they mingle together once again. My eyes behold, in one glance, these things in the far-flung sectors of the park.

But my vision of peacefulness is pierced by the winged-wheels of Racing Rabold's Hot Rod. With the speed of Mercury, death defying, he rounds the curve as a shriek of horror grips the tense crowd. All eyes turn to the left where a group of spectators stand staring at the limp form of Jean Kreider who was unable to endure the strain of the excitement due to a recent illness brought about by over-work in her Fur Salon located on the corner of Hollywood and Vine. Her private nurse, Edith Adams, summoned Dr. Jacob Weaver to the scene. Although her condition is not serious, she is moved to the Community Hospital.

where she is able to slowly recover and chat with Phyllis Brossman and Kathryn Sweigart, capable nurses who were not able to attend the reunion of their class.

The spark of the festivities is not dimmed for long as a high-spirited exhibition badminton match is staged between the World Champs, Gorgeous Gerry Lied and Audacious Audrey Hess and their classmates Beatrice Groff and Patricia Grabill. "Under a spreading chestnut tree" stands the president of the Society of Unmarried Males, Mr. Donald Weaver, surrounded by his fellow-members, Edward Kreiner and Eugene Hummer.

My glance falls upon the Park Hotel, managed by Miss Joan Root. In the den, Lyle Sherk and R. Donald Weaver, expert dog trainers and breeders, switch ideas and methods, while June Peiffer, ace woman jockey, and Robin "Birdie" Fidler, creator of Birdie's Song Food, voice their own interests.

In an adjoining lounge the educational heads, Frederick Kreider, Dean of Men, Helen Greenly, Home Economics Department, and Prof. Roger Sheaf, bacteriologist, all of U. of E., are engrossed in plans for a new wing to be added to the university. Those not able to attend are by no means forgotten, for as Marian Shoenenberger, Powers model, glances at the "Ephratonian" edited by Miss Pauline Vollenweider, a headline catches her eye. Ephrata is well represented in the National D. A. R. by our own Kathryn Reich being elected president and Joyce Rabold as vice president.

Flipping the page she is amazed to find that Wayne Buffenmyer's Aquacade and Water Ballet are opening in Pasadena, California.

Prof. Howard Lied has gained recognition as winner of the Nobele Prize for his profound research on new reducing pills.

Upon the most widely read page she finds the comic strip, "Love-Lorn Lillie", created and illustrated by Patricia Garman. A wire photo of Pauline Hess, African missionary, embarking from an ocean liner and being greeted by the city's leading social worker, Pearl Felpel, is also front page news.

Although this is a day of recreation for the busy housewives, Shirley Eitnier, Nancy Ursprung, Almeta Burkholder, and Virginia Sweigart, their thoughts linger at their homes and with their families as they exchange household hints.

Among the distinguished business women present are Shirley J. Showers, proprietress of Showers' Umbrella Shoppe, whose slogan is "Never get wet with Showers" and Miss M. A. Sweigart, representative of the Whirl-Away Revolving Door Corp. As twilight descends the twinkle of Japanese lanterns encircle the terraced dance floor as lilting bars of music seep from the sweet trumpet of Donald Harsh and his Mellow-Men. We see the dashing cassanova, Edward Pierce, whirling his partner Yvonne Smith, socialite.

The music stops—Bob Wieder "gives out" with a fanfare on his sparkling set of drums as Pat Palsgrove and Laurie Weaver, T. V. King and Queen, Comic Team approach the stage to present to the audience their bit of humor.

As the farewell medley is played, Monsieur Harry P. Keares and his model, Joan Wilson wearing his latest millinery creation step into the cab of Carl Fry to join friends at the ritzy "Peacock Plazza", celebrated night club owned and operated by Donald Usner and E. I. Weinhold. En route they pass the Self-Service Gasoline Depot, co-owned by Summers and Steinmetz.

The cab halts in front of the club and the stately doorman, Harry Renninger, escorts the party to the lobby where their wraps are checked by the petite hat-check girl, Lena Ditzler. From the Blue Room floats the beautiful voice of Evelyn Ay, pouring forth her emotions in lyric form.

At a ringside table are seated Rosalyn Martin, Fifth Avenue hair stylist; Particia Longenecker, dramatic actress; Paul Shupp, millionaire play boy; and Miss J. L. Kochel, F. B. I. agent, who at this moment has been summoned to the telephone by ace-operator, Shirley Trupe.

As the clock strikes twelve the old classmates bring to an end a day never to be forgotten. A day when they were able to pay homage to their Alma Mater and the "Mountaineer Boy"!

Key Club

The Key Club which was formed in '49, is Ephrata High School's best and only service club. It consists of twenty-four members with Nevin Crowther as president; Ronald Hartranft, first vice president; Ed. Hammon, second vice president; Randolph Aires, secretary; Ed. Gooding, treasurer; and Lester Strauch, secretary of the Pennsylvania District Key Clubs.

Under the careful leadership of the Kiwanis Club, they have established a record that would be the hope and goal of any service organization.

In the past year they have held student dances and done tasks around the building so we can be proud of our well kept school.

It is our wish that the future Key Clubs of Ephrata High will do as good a job as this one has done.

Band

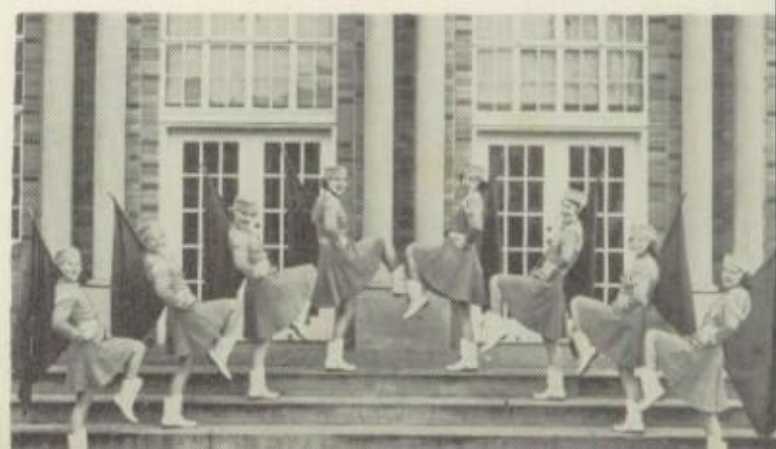

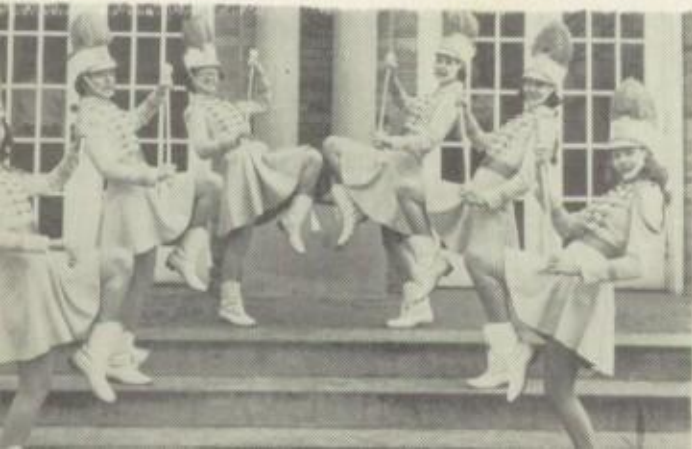

Early in this season the Ephrata High School Band started the fall program under the capable direction of Mr. Berger. During this time the band was seen at the football games and in several parades.

On November 27, Mr. Robert J. Bieber was chosen to succeed Mr. Berger, due to Mr. Berger's resignation as band director.

Under the leadership of Mr. Bieber, this organization performed many excellent programs in chapel. In the spring it presented a very successful concert.

Officers of the band were: Manager, David Hornberger; Student Director, Donald Harsh; Librarian, Lois Faye Noll; Field Captain, Evelyn Ay; Majorette Captain, Patsy Garman; Swiss Flag Captain, Kathryn Reich.

Seniors in the band include: Donald Harsh, Howard Lied, Donald Usner, Robert Wieder, and Laurie Weaver. Seniors in special units: Evelyn Ay, Madeleine Beck, Patsy Garman, Patsy Grabill, Arlene Hockman, Jane Kochel, Neva Lewis, Kathryn Reich, and Shirley Showers.

Orchestra

Although this year's orchestra was originally formed by Mr. Berger, the group came into its prime under the leadership of Mr. Bieber. It provided music for many of our programs and school assemblies.

Throughout the year the group worked hard to provide a spring concert and to furnish members for the County Orchestra and District Orchestra Festivals.

Seniors in the orchestra were: Donald Harsh, Neva Lewis, Robin Fidler and Howard Lied.

To the future orchestras of E. H. S. the class of '51 wishes the best of luck and success.

Mixed Chorus

This talented group of senior high vocalists met every Tuesday and Thursday. Being capably directed by Mrs. Mildred Leisey, this organization ended another successful year with many entertaining chapel programs.

On November 22 the chorus entertained the students with a delightful Thanksgiving program and on December 21 presented a Christmas program which was well received by the student body.

From this group emerged the Girls' Ensemble, consisting of six senior girls: Evelyn Ay, Pauline Hess, Jane Kochel, Jean Kreider, Geraldine Lied and Nancy Snader.

Laurie Weaver, Cyrus Dietrich, Pauline Hess and Jean Kreider represented the chorus and Ephrata High School at the Southern District Chorus as members of exceptional ability. The County Chorus claimed still more recruits.

Without this group of faithful entertainers the school year certainly would not have been as enjoyable as it was.

Junior High Mixed Chorus

Composed of seventh, eighth, and ninth grade girls and boys, this organization did a remarkable job of entertaining the students during chapel programs. By practicing industriously every Monday and Wednesday during the half hour period, they were able to present us with several numbers in the Christmas program and in the Spring Festival.

The work produced was excellent, and the class of 1951 thinks that the organization and its advisor, Mrs. Mildred Leisey, deserve sincere congratulations.

The senior members of this group were Marlene Dissinger, Jane Kochel, Patricia Longenecker, Patricia Palsgrove, Karen Shimp, Shirley Showers, Yvonne Smith, and Pauline Vollenweider. Some of these seniors have been library assistants for the past five years.

The work of the library assistants consists of checking books, writing out overdue notices, and typing attendance sheets.

These girls have helped in the library two periods a week; and because of their faithfulness, the library has been well managed during the entire year.

Varsity Football

This year's squad, capably led by co-captains "Don" Weaver and "Let" Brubaker, achieved great success on the gridiron. Although the Mounts started with a bang, its hopes of an undefeated season were upset by losses to Catholic High, Elizabethtown, and Manheim Township. Due to its seven wins including an impressive victory over Lititz 25-13, the team finished in fourth place in the Conference of the Roses.

Graduating from this year's squad were co-captains "Let" Brubaker and "Don" Weaver, Paul Shupp, Jim Orwig, Jake Weaver, Ed. Pierce, Harry Renninger, Harry Keares, Dave Brossman, and Jim Bomberger.

The class of "51" wishes an undefeated season to next year's team headed by "Let" Strauch and Nevin Crowther.

Varsity Basketball

The Varsity "swishers" of Ephrata High have again exhibited one of the most successful years in the history of the school by winning their section championship and entering both the county and state playoffs.

Under the technical knowledge of Coach Roger Care, the candidates were established into a team of speed, skillful shooting, and teamwork, which made them difficult to deal with.

Seniors who will be lost to the hardwood squad next year are: Lester Brubaker, Ernest Hartranft, Lester Summers, Donald Weaver, and Evan Weinhold.
